                        A                          G
Chorus:          At the dawn of the dinosaur, a long time ago,
                      D                              E
                 The earth was very different, perhaps you didn't know.
                    A                                   G
                 T-Rex and Megasaurus roamed the jungles and forests
                        D                 E                A
                 In the age pre-historic,  _ a long time ago.

A                    D
_ If we could go back in time
D                    A
_ We'd have to be careful
'Cause we might get squished between
                   A
A Stegosaurus' toes
                  D                          A
And we might wish we were safe with mom and dad,
'Cause dinosaurs have sharp teeth
And it hurts real bad.

Chorus
A                         D
_ They're bigger than elephants
                          A
But they come from an egg
                 E
Some are vegetarians
Some are carnivores
                      D
And you should beware of them
Cause they might think
They'd like to eat you
'Cept that they're extinct!
